

REACH ACCORD ON W. GERMAN PROBLEMS

Need 'Heart' to Win Elections: Eisenhower

President Speaks In New York to Support Sen. Ives

NEW YORK (UP)—President Eisenhower told Republican campaign workers today that "heart" is "the indispensable ingredient" in winning elections.

Mr. Eisenhower said "heart" was "that thing within... a man or an organization which will not accept defeat."

The President spoke at Republican headquarters in the Roosevelt Hotel in support of Sen. Irving M. Ives, Republican candidate for governor, and other GOP candidates in the crucial New York state elections.

The President, with Sen. Ives and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, left immediately after his short speech for a three hour surprise trip through Brooklyn, the Bronx, and sections of downtown Manhattan.

Mr. Eisenhower told his Republican audience that he was trying to keep the same leaders in Washington and said in order to carry out his program that he must also have the same leaders in the states.

He told the Republican election officials that they must smile and that they "have got to go all the way."

"You've got to make people see you believe in something," Mr. Eisenhower said.

"How much do we believe we are saving the principles of the United States of America?"

Remember Jack Dempsey

The President told the Republicans that there was much work still to be done and compared their task with the classic boxing match between Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and Luis Firpo, Argentina's well-known candidate for the title a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Eisenhower said Firpo knocked Dempsey from the ring in the first round, clear back in to newspapermen's typewriters. But, the President said, Dempsey crawled back into the ring and "wheeled the tar" out of him.

The President said the important thing was that Dempsey "carried a cause through."

Mr. Eisenhower said the important thing was to "give moderate government" this day and time which is fitted to the economic and social needs in America."

A Stout Defense
Mr. Eisenhower's surprise tour of the city apparently was part of a calculated maneuver to inject new steam into the New York and New Jersey election campaigns.

He fought back at Democratic criticism of the administration's foreign policy Wednesday night when he made what the White House labeled a "non-political" address at a dinner marking the 300th anniversary of Jewish settlement in this country.

His words were a stout and proud defense of the Republican record in world affairs, which has been under attack from former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Issue Permits for Three Oil Tests

Three permits for oil tests in Eldorado township were issued at Springfield this week.

They were:
To J. D. Turner, Evansville, Ind., for the Otis Carter Community No. 1, SW corner of the SE quarter of Section 17, 8S-7E;

Calvert Drilling, Inc., Olney, for the M. M. Endicott No. 2, SE corner of the NW quarter of the SE quarter of Section 2, 8S-7E;

Pep Drilling Co., Mt. Vernon, for the Victor Suttner No. 1, SE corner of the SW quarter of the SE quarter of Section 7, 8S-7E.

Southwestern Bell Denied Rate Increase

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission today denied Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's petition for $498,500 a year increases in rates to 60,000 Illinois customers.

The ICC ruled that existing rates charged by Bell in and around East St. Louis, Belleville and Granite City are "just and reasonable."

A petition by a group of customers called the "Citizens Committee to Fight Excessive Rates," who asked that present rates be trimmed the same amount Bell sought to increase them, also was turned down.

Smell That Sweet Smell In Today's Daily Register?

Smell, says Mr. Webster's dictionary, is to perceive by the excitation of the olfactory nerves; to get the odor or scent of. Also, to have an odor or atmosphere; to give forth an aroma.

Today you should be able to smell a more pleasant smell when you read The Daily Register.

The usual ink used in printing The Register has been perfumed with Colgate's new air deodorant, "Florient."

Frankly, this is an advertising promotion. We are co-operating with a dozen or more local grocers who are offering this week, for the first time, Colgate's new product, which is packaged in a can with compressed air and used as a spray for kitchens, living rooms and bathrooms.

The new product of the Colgate-Palmolive Co. is being serviced by Fred Perry of Herrin, local representative of the Colgate-Palmolive company for this area.

It is the first time The Register has attempted such a promotion. An expensive perfume was mixed with the ink in the fountains of our press, and the concentration is so strong that even the small amount of ink distributed on the various pages of The Register carries the scent.

There is a possibility a faint perfume may be noticed for the next day or so, but the strength will diminish as additional ink is added to the fountains.

Believe Some of POWs Who Remained With Communists Regret Decision

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some of the 21 American prisoners who chose to stay with the Communists in Korea a year ago now apparently regret their decision, Defense Department sources said today.

Very little has been learned about them since they turned down a chance to come home after the Korean armistice. But some information has seeped through the Bamboo Curtain in intelligence reports and occasional letters to relatives.

From this defense source said some of the voluntary exiles "appear to be somewhat disenchanted with their lot" in Communist China. It is suspected the men feel disillusioned and homesick now that the ideological and emotional

Hershey Urges Adequate Reserve Force

MIAMI (UP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, has urged that all men under 26 be "made available" to the armed forces and that older men, up to 35, form a "swing shift" for a possible military emergency.

Hershey made a plea for an adequate, trained reserve force in a banquet address Wednesday night before the 76th annual general conference of the National Guard Association, which concludes today with committee reports, presentation of marksmanship trophies and other awards and election of officers.

"I don't like to hear that we can't have a trained reserve because there are no men available," Hershey said. "We have the numbers. I think we can rake up some men."

Hershey then outlined means of finding them. First, he urged that the armed forces take a second look at all the men under 25 who have been rejected for service. He also said that men between 26 and 35 should be ready for call in the event of an emergency.

All men over 35 would be "left largely out to pasture," he said. Hershey said that while the emphasis should continue to be on quality rather than quantity, the time to train men is during peace.

"In peace we have the time but apparently no money, and in war we have plenty of money but no time," he said.

Mrs. Arno Edwards Dies Near Galatia

Mrs. Nora Edwards, 77 years of age, widow of the late Arno Edwards, died at the home of a son, Truman Edwards, west of Galatia, about noon Wednesday.

The body was taken by the Courtney funeral home of Galatia to the family residence in the Ebenezer community at 3:30 this afternoon to lie in state until the funeral hour.

Funeral services will be held at Ebenezer church, where she was a member, at 2 p. m. Friday, with Rev. Silas Blackard of Omaha, church pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Mabel Cardwell, Galatia, Mrs. Lawton Parker and Mrs. Lorene Adams, both of Thompsonville, and Mrs. Aliene Smith, Carlsbad, New Mexico; two sons, Truman Edwards, RFD Thompsonville, and Huey Edwards at home.

Two brothers and a sister also survive, Mrs. Allie Edwards, Galatia, Charlie Jenkins, Pittsburg and Hester Jenkins, Thompsonville.

Board Asked to Sell Another Acre to Factory

Davenport Tells Supervisors Hudes Needs Additional Land

The Saline County Board of Supervisors this morning was informed that Irving I. Hudes needs one more acre of county farm land for his plastic factory now being erected because the main building is being constructed larger than was first planned and now he needs the additional acre behind the land purchased for trucks that will be coming in and out of the plant.

Spokesman was Robert Davenport of the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, present at the meeting with the Jaycees president, Millard Lynch.

Davenport reported that the small factory building on the site in Dorrisville probably will be completed next week and that next week also the road probably will be put on the large structure.

Needs Extra Land

"Mr. Hudes hopes to be started in operation in the small building soon," Davenport stated, "but he made his large building bigger than was first planned and now he needs the additional acre behind the land purchased for trucks that will be coming in and out of the plant."

Davenport also stated that Mr. Hudes already has a third building in the planning stage.

Besides seeking the additional acre for this plant, Davenport said the Jaycees have another proposition that right now is in the mature stages and would like to negotiate with the board for at the balance of the land on the west side of the road, which would be around seven or eight acres if Mr. Hudes can secure the one acre he wants.

Davenport said there is a good chance of securing a plant that would require the balance of the land.

Water Line Laid

"There would be a larger structure than the plastic factory but it would employ about the same number of persons as will be at the plastic plant," Davenport said. He also said the Jaycees would be interested in negotiating for part of the county farm land on the east side of the road in the future.

Regarding the Hudes factory building program, Davenport declared that the water line to the Statement on Auto Crash Read To Coroner Jury

The testimony of Robert H. Patton, one of two survivors of an auto crash that took four lives Sunday afternoon, was injected by Coroner Elmer Gibbons into the inquest into the deaths of the four, held last night at the Eldorado city hall.

Patton and his 12-year-old son, Ronald Lee, are patients at the Pearce hospital in Eldorado. Coroner Gibbons obtained Patton's statement yesterday afternoon and read it to the jury.

Following this statement and testimony by Donald Smith and Lewis Reeder, who heard the crash and saw the dust from the collision, State Policeman Guthrie Alexander, who investigated, and Ralph Bean, embalmer who told of the injuries, the jury returned a verdict that George A. Gross and Mrs. Emma Lou Patton were killed outright and that Mrs. Noma Gross and Dennis Ray Patton, 3, died of injuries as a result of the crash.

Patton's statement was that he was meeting an approaching truck on Route 142 near Eldorado and that an auto was trailing the truck. Just as he was meeting the truck, he stated, he saw the car pulling out to make the left turn and was in his lane before he could do anything. That was all he could remember about the crash.

When Reeder and Smith saw what had happened, they testified, Reeder hurried to the scene and Smith called for ambulances and State police.

Rites Friday For Raede Ellis Of Shawneetown

Funeral services for Raede Ellis, prominent citizen of Shawneetown, who for many years was president of the First National bank there and who died yesterday morning, will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Ringgold Presbyterian church. Rev. Roland Westervelt, Shawneetown, will officiate, and burial will be in the Hogan cemetery.

Democrats Turn Biggest Campaign Guns on 29 States in Stretch Drive

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Democratic high command today turned its biggest campaign guns on 29 crucial states in a stretch drive for victory in the Nov. 2 congressional election.

The Democratic National Committee announced that Adlai E. Stevenson, National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, House and Senate leaders and other party bigwigs will spearhead a closing push to capture Congress. The Democratic speakers will make upwards of 60 speeches in the 29 states before election day.

Stevenson, 1952 Democratic standard bearer, scheduled speeches in Milwaukee, Wis., Friday; in Illinois Saturday; in Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 26; in Wilmington, Del., Oct. 27; in New Jersey Oct. 28; and in the New York City area Oct. 29 and 30.

Mitchell Speeches Listed
Mitchell's itinerary includes a speech Saturday in Binghamton, N. Y., where he said he would discuss the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract. Binghamton is the district of Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), chairman of the House Senate Atomic Energy Committee, who has sparred with Mitchell over the Dixon-Yates proposal.

Mitchell earlier urged Democratic candidates not to let up on their campaigning lest "over-confidence and complacency" rob them of a victory "that is within our grasp."

He said no election "is won until all the votes have been cast and until they have been counted."

Warns Of Underestimates

"Let's not underestimate the Republicans," Mitchell said. "Let's not underestimate the power of the gigantic Republican campaign funds. Let's not underestimate the power of the editorial support the Republicans are receiving in the press."

Simultaneously, Vice President Richard M. Nixon told reporters in Chicago that the Republicans have gained ground in the last 10 days and added: "If the momentum keeps up, we will win."

Nixon was scheduled to speak today in Champaign and Rock Island, Ill., on behalf of GOP senatorial candidate Joseph T. Meek and other Republican candidates.

President Eisenhower, meanwhile, was to confer today with Sen. Irving M. Ives, New York Republican gubernatorial nominee and Clifford P. Case, the party's senatorial candidate in New Jersey. Both Case and Ives are in the midst of hot races.

The policies followed by the Truman administration were a complete failure in providing prosperity in peacetime," he said.

He said that Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, "has bluntly admitted that a Democratic 84th Congress should and would go back to the policies of the Truman administration."

Truman Policies Hit
Mr. Truman's personal participation in the campaign increases the danger of a return to Truman policies, he said.

In an earlier news conference, Nixon boosted the candidacy of Joseph T. Meek, the GOP senatorial nominee in Illinois, and predicted the Republicans have picked up enough momentum to win Nov. 2.

Meek will beat Douglas in the Illinois race, he predicted, although he conceded "it is a close, hard fight."

Asked whether he was sure Mr. Eisenhower wants Meek to win, Nixon said "there's no question about that at all."

He charged that Meek is opposed to almost all Mr. Eisenhower's major policies and is a strong backer of the Bricker amendment to curb the President's treaty-making powers.

Banker Warns Against Greed by Private Utilities

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Little Rock, Ark., bank president complained today that rates of the Arkansas Power & Light Co. are so high he couldn't afford to keep an electric stove in his home.

Arthur E. McLean, president of the Commercial National Bank of Little Rock, made the complaint in warning a Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee that the "greed" of private utilities may lead to their own destruction.

The subcommittee is investigating the so-called Dixon-Yates power contract which involves Middle South Utilities Inc., Middle South controls the Arkansas utility. The proposed contract would let Middle South and another utility group build a 107-million-dollar steam plant at West Memphis, Ark. The plant would supply power to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace power taken from TVA by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Four-Year-Old Boy is Lost In Wilderness

POWERS LAKE, N. D. (UP)—Two thousand National Guardsmen and volunteers formed a human chain today as they searched for a 4-year-old boy missing four nights in wilderness country.

The searchers refused to relax their search for Lavern Enget, even though they admitted the chances that he is still alive are very slim.

The boy, clad only in a T-shirt and overalls, left his farm home near here Sunday night to meet his father, who was bringing in a herd of cattle. He has not been seen since.

Temperatures have dropped to near freezing in this remote section of northwest North Dakota since Sunday. The sparsely-populated country is marked with sloughs and hills where bobcats and foxes have their lairs.

Searchers Hold Hands

Searchers today planned to hold hands as they march three or four miles to the west of the Enget home. About 250 horsemen also formed a chain. Two helicopters from the Air Defense Base at Denver, Colo., and airplanes patrolled the skies.

So many persons joined the search that truckloads of food were hauled from nearby Williston and Flaxton. The Red Cross set up an emergency center on the Enget farm to distribute the food.

The searchers also planned to start draining the scores of hand-dug wells that dot the region. The wells were dug by homesteaders during the region's pioneer days and were later abandoned. There were fears that Lavern might have fallen into one of them.

Law officers were still on the lookout for signs indicating that Lavern had been kidnapped or met with foul play. However, there was no evidence to justify the suspicion.

W. Virginia Coal Train Dynamited; Crewman is Killed

WEBSTER SPRINGS, W. Va. (UP)—For the second time in less than 18 months, West Virginia had a serious mine "war" on its hands today with the death of a crewman of a coal train which was dynamited near here.

Robert Nicholas, about 42, died when a fully-loaded coal car overturned on top of him after he leaped or fell from the locomotive of the train late Wednesday.

The death of the railroad fireman brought into sharp focus two months of unrest, marked by a number of hit-and-run dynamite raids on coal company property, since union employees of three Maest Coal & Coke Co. mines went on strike.

In the spring of last year, a long, violent dispute between miners seeking to force the Elk River Coal & Lumber Co., of Widen, W. Va., to accept the CIO United Mine Workers erupted into a gun battle in which a company guard was killed.

Fears of another "Widen" have been prevalent for two or three weeks here.

John Pruett, 72, Dies at Elizabethtown

John Pruett, 72, an Elizabethtown barber for many years, died today this morning at the Hardin county General hospital in Rosiclare.

He is survived by his wife, Clara, and a son, Bob Pruett. The body will remain at the Barnett funeral home in Elizabethtown and funeral plans are incomplete.

Agree to Terms For Restoring Sovereignty

Predict Successful End to High-Level Talks Saturday

PARIS (UP)—The United States, Britain, France and West Germany announced today that full agreement has been reached on all terms for restoring German sovereignty and ending the Allied occupation.

That agreement, and the rapid solution of all other outstanding problems, prompted beaming delegates to predict a successful end to the high-level conference by Saturday afternoon.

Agreement will give Germany back her freedom, authorize a 500,000 man German army as an ally of the West, bring West Germany within the Brussels alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization pact and end the Franco-German dispute over the Saar.

In the Bag

Success appeared in the bag in the light of these developments:
1. The Allied agreement on German sovereignty.

2. Withdrawal by Premier Pierre Mendes-France of the controversial French demand for a pool of arms of member nations of the new "West European Union."

3. Agreement in principle on revisions in the Brussels alliance to admit Germany and Italy as members.

4. Announcement that the long-standing dispute between Germany and France over future of the coal-rich Saarland border area has been settled.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer summed it up by saying all the necessary accords for re-forming his nation, restoring its sovereignty and bringing it within the Brussels and North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be ready for signing Saturday.

He said the Saar settlement—the greatest threat of a hitch to full agreement—will be included.

The German chancellor emerged beaming from a two hour conference of the nine foreign ministers who are revamping the Brussels Treaty organization to include Germany and provide for a 500,000 man German army.

It was announced officially that London has been designated the seat of the new "West European Union"—the new title for the enlarged Brussels alliance.

It also was agreed without a hitch that the union's arms agency which will supervise arms production on the continent and guard against a revival of unbridled German militarism, will be located in Paris.

Iran's Lower House Ratifies Oil Agreement

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—Iran's lower house of Parliament today overwhelmingly ratified an agreement that will permit eight foreign companies to put the nation's oil on the world market again.

Deputies in the Majlis (house) voted 113-5, with two abstaining, in favor of the accord which ends a dispute that began in 1951 when Mohammed Mossadeq, then premier, nationalized the vast Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

The agreement will become law after the Senate ratifies it and it is signed by the Shah.

The government and the eight oil companies last August initiated the agreement which will give the country a minimum of 420 million dollars in revenue during the next three years.

Iran agreed to pay Britain 70 million dollars over a 10-year period as compensation for the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Airliner Catches Afire on Ground

CHICAGO (UP)—An airliner caught fire on the ground today but nine passengers and a crew of four walked off the ship without injury.

An airport employee who was fueling the plane was seriously burned. The big four engine DC6 was a United Air Lines craft parked at a loading ramp at Midway Airport.

Test Data Shows H-Bomb Not as Powerful as Reported

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) —
More conservative reports from the recent Pacific hydrogen bomb tests are now beginning to trickle out of the Atomic Energy Commission.

This has always happened. Careful study of the mass of test data reveals that blasts are far less powerful than the first, semi-hysterical accounts indicate.

The hydrogen bomb the U. S. has exploded over Chicago. It would not "wipe out" a big metropolitan city. It would not kill everyone within a 60-mile radius of ground zero.

The first toned-down, really reliable estimates of the H-bomb's destructive power come from two recent reports which were painstakingly reviewed by the Atomic Energy Commission before being approved. One is in the form of a speech given by Dr. John C.
Bugher, director of AEC's division of biology and medicine.

The other is an article appearing in the current issue of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, by Harold A. Knapp, a civil defense expert. In addition to minimizing the effects of the American H-bomb he debunks the stories that the Russians have built bigger H-bombs than the U. S., saying:

"A PRUDENT PESSIMISM is that by 1957 the Russians should be assumed capable of producing a bomb with as much explosive force as that reported for one of our 1954 tests, 10 to 16 megatons."

One megaton is the equivalent to the explosive force of 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

Knapp projects the effects that an H-bomb blast would have on a suburban community nine miles from the center of the town, which he presumes would be ground zero.

"Until the latter part of 1956
when assumptions indicate bombs with yields of five megatons," he writes, "residents will be reasonably safe if they take shelter in basements or at least away from windows and doors." He adds:

"There would probably not be any fatal injuries from blast, although flying glass might cause many lacerations, and persons looking in the direction of the blast might be blinded from the flash for several hours. There would be little danger of direct ignition of the wood siding of houses."

EVEN WHEN THE RUSSIANS might have an H-bomb as big as the ones exploded last spring in the Pacific, he still believes it would be advisable for residents to stay in their homes during an attack, even if they have plenty of warning.

"But to do so would require special shelter," he claims. "Something as simple as a foxhole would be adequate if it were located so that blown-over trees would not fall into it," he reasons.

An attack of 18-megaton H-bombs, without warning, would kill about 10 to 15 per cent of all persons, with three times that many nonfatally injured, he predicts.

These figures are nothing to make the average suburban resident complacent. But they are far less frightening than the estimates of H-bomb damage being dished out by semiofficial spokesmen right after the Pacific tests.

ONE OF THE MOST encouraging predictions Knapp makes is that by the middle of next year there will be an hour of advance warning of attack, due to improved radar lines. With this warning, even if Russian bombs would reach 24-megaton size, suburbanites would have ample time to drive out of the lethal area in cars, or even to ride a bicycle to a safe place. That's if orderly evacuation plans went into effect, he points out.

Dr. Bugher's report tends to minimize the danger of radiation death from nuclear weapon attack.
Danger from flying debris is the most serious, he claims. "Material such as glass, which may be easily fragmented and readily accelerated to high velocities, may be anticipated to be a great source of injury from blast," he says.

Ever since the Pacific tests there have been widely circulated reports that dangerous amounts of radiation have accumulated in the upper atmosphere. He says:

"The average exposure from this cause to the people of the United States from the fallout of the entire series of tests this past spring was substantially less than 10 per cent of that accepted as permissible for continuous exposure over an entire year."

President Talks To Youthful Muscular Dystrophy Victim

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A 6-year-old victim of muscular dystrophy had a wish come true Wednesday.

Thanks to a policeman, David Wolfson and his mother were along the path President Eisenhower took when leaving a mass meeting.

The President saw David and stopped to talk to him.

"What's your name?" he asked.

"David," the boy replied.
"I like you even more now because I have a grandson by that name," Mr. Eisenhower said. "God bless you and I hope you will be better very soon."

Kroger Announces Good Citizenship Managers Program

A "Good Citizenship" program for Kroger store managers was announced today by H. L. Lindsay, manager of the Carbondale branch which operates local stores.
"We want every Kroger employee to recognize his responsibilities to the community in which he lives role of the store manager in the community is particularly important, because he represents not only his company but also the employees of his store."

"Many have of course done outstanding community service work for several years," he added, "and we feel that they deserve recognition for their fine records." In each district in the Carbondale branch, a store manager "Good Citizen" for 1954 will be selected. Each district winner will receive a plaque to be displayed in his store, while additional recognition will go to the outstanding manager in the branch.

As representatives of Kroger in 1,200 communities, store managers have an important responsibility, Lindsay explained. "We try to be good citizens wherever we operate," he continued, pointing out that the company last year contributed more than $450,000 in support of civic and charitable enterprises. In addition, Kroger is a member of chambers of commerce and "merchants' associations in each of its 'home towns.'"

The Long Branch Baptist church has called as its pastor, Rev. W.

A. Morse. Rev. and Mrs. Morse expect to move this coming week from McLeansboro. Rev. Morse has previously been missionary of the Fairfield Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mings from Alhambra, Calif., have been visiting with relatives and friends in this community, among whom was a brother, Roy Mings, and family and an uncle, Alvis Mings, and family. A dinner was held at the West Frankfort park in their honor. This was their first visit back in 17 years.

Alfred Pulliam has been visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Mings and is visiting in the Walpole community with a sister, Mrs.

Refreshing Secret

What a wonderful drink Coca-Cola is...

with a rare, delicious flavor all its own. And how refreshing the bit of quick energy it gives you. How nice, then, to know that Coke has as few calories as half an average, juicy grapefruit.

Have a Coke!

Four generations have made Coca-Cola
by far the most asked-for soft drink in the world.

Delta Alpha Chapter Has Founders Day Ceremony

Saturday, Oct. 16, members and guests of the Delta Alpha chapter of Delta Theta Tau observed Founders Day with a picnic at the country home of Harker Miley.

After a delightful buffet supper prepared by the hostesses, Mrs. John Humm, Mrs. Ronald Darnell, Mrs. J. D. Barter Jr., and Mrs. Ronnie Ziegler, games were enjoyed around an open fire.

At 9:30 p. m. the members of the chapter retired to the cabin for an impressive Founders Day ceremony.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Slighton, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tom Rees, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Pankey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ozment, Mr. and Mrs. Don Raymer, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fife, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leberman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushing, Miss Barbara Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Darnell, Mrs. John Humm, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barter Jr.

Especially invited guests were John Richard Small, Miss Shirley Gaskins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lamire Moore.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS AGO—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baldwin, left, Eldorado, and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Carnahan, right, of Rocky Branch, whose double golden wedding anniversary is Tuesday, Oct. 26, will celebrate with open house Sunday, Oct. 24, at the Carnahan country home. The double wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. H. L. E. Mason, in Equality, at which time the above picture was taken. Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Carnahan are the former Ella May and Ada Fay Mason. Mr. Carnahan is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hez Carnahan and was reared in the Rocky Branch community where he has been occupied as farmer and stockman since his marriage. Mr. Baldwin is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Baldwin and was raised at Equality. He is a former hoisting engineer. Friends are cordially invited to attend this affair Sunday from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Past Presidents Parley Meets With Mrs. John Schwartz

The Past Presidents Parley off the American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. John Schwartz for the monthly business and social session.

The devotion was given by Mrs. C. E. Wing who talked on "Old Man Trouble."

The business session was directed by Mrs. Kenneth O'Neal, newly elected president. Other officers are Mrs. Freda Keltner, secretary, and Mrs. W. W. Wheatley, treasurer, who is ill in the hospital.

Plans were made to assist in the annual Halloween festival. During the social hour entertainment was furnished by contests of famous battles, famous men in history, monuments and homes. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. C. W. Whitley and Mrs. Wing.

Mrs. W. L. Tate received the guest door prize.

Refreshments were served to the members who were seated around a burning log fireplace. Lovely fall flowers added to the effect.

Present were Mrs. Freda Keltner, Mrs. Harry Barter, Mrs. W. L. Tate, Mrs. C. W. Whitley, Mrs. Ernest Cozart, Mrs. Arthur Moore, Mrs. Kenneth O'Neal, Mrs. C. E. Wing and little granddaughter, Marilyn Jo Gates, and the hostess, Mrs. Schwartz.

Ruth Gray Class Has Halloween Party

The Ruth Gray class of the First Christian church held its annual Halloween party Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Fellowship hall of the church.

Hostesses were Mrs. Willard Rutherford and Mrs. James Jackson.

The evening was spent in playing games which were conducted by Mrs. Glen Daugherty. Prizes were received by Mrs. James Boggio and Mrs. Bill Sloan Jr.

Pie and coffee were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Brackney, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sloan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty and Glen Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Les Ruebel and David, Mrs. James Boggio, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Rutherford, Paula and Carol, Mrs. James Jackson, Janet and Linda, Mrs. Frank Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wilson and Vickie, Doris Jean Boatright and Ruby Thomas.

Cairo Presbyterian Conference To Be Held in Eldorado

The second Cairo Presbyterian fall training conference will be held Friday at the First Presbyterian church in Eldorado. The theme is "Proclaim the Truth, Christ Is the Way."

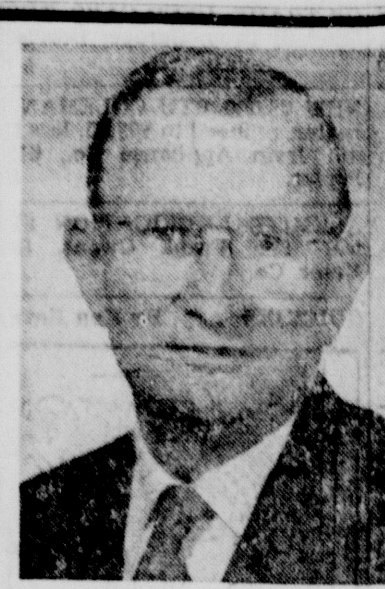

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. followed by a musical prelude and the hymn "Thou Art the Way." Mrs. R. W. Kennedy, first vice president, will preside. Greetings by Mrs. C. E. Camp, president of the Eldorado association, will be followed by the morning worship at 9:30 during which time Mrs. J. M. Burley will talk on "Christ Is the Way."

The remainder of the program is as follows: presenting the objectives, Mrs. Kennedy; simultaneous training session for local officers: (1) administrative department, leader, Mrs. J. M. Burley; (2) program department, Mrs. G. C. Benson, chairman, Mrs. Benson, Mrs. Clarence Bosket, Mrs. Ed Hon, Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Austin Heuer, leaders; (3) fellowship department, Mrs. O. J. Sewell, chairman, Mrs. Sewell, Mrs. Rowland Westervelt, Miss Margaret Farris, Mrs. J. O. Wells and Mrs. David Sanks, leaders; (4) world service department, Mrs. Lester Throgmorton, chairman, Mrs. Throgmorton, Mrs. J. S. Holladay, Mrs. Lowell Moore, Mrs. Harry Seibert and Mrs. Carroll Bair, leaders; noon (sack lunch).

Mrs. J. M. Burley will preside over the afternoon session which will begin at 1 o'clock. The program is: Musical prelude; hymn "Christ of the Upward Way"; business; "Echoes from Purdue," by Mrs. David Beverly, Equality, Mrs. Guy C. Hill, Shawneetown, and Mrs. O. J. Sewell, Murphysboro; "Presbyterian at Little Grassy Lake," Mrs. L. R. Gilliland, Cobden; new goals for advancement; findings from the departmental sessions; Thanksgiving worship service.

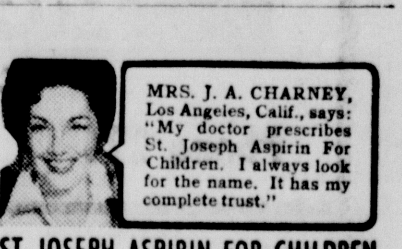

All Presbyterian women are urged to attend. Call Mrs. Lowell Moore or Mrs. LeRoy Reese for transportation.

Mrs. Bill Pollack, who underwent surgery Tuesday morning in the Union County hospital, Anna, is improving. Her room number is 125.

Over 80 Attend Presbyterian Stewardship Program and Dinner
Over 80 persons attended the stewardship dinner at the First Presbyterian church last evening. The lesson of "Stewardship Responsibilities" was presented by Rev. John P. Emig, and the devotion was given by Steve Farrar. Mrs. Charles Boicourt presided at the piano while Mrs. Farrar led the singing, which was in keeping with the theme of the program. The Mary Seton and the Alpha circles prepared and served the dinner.

The British Commonwealth covers 16,000,000 square miles, with 600,000,000 population.

Miss Dorothy Stilley Weds Gerald O. Lane

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stilley are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Gerald O. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lane, Eldorado.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bert Cherry at the Baptist parsonage in Carbondale Friday, Oct. 15, at 6 p. m.

The bride chose for her wedding a dress of white with pink accessories and carried a white Bible topped with white baby chrysanthemums and pink ribbon. Miss Shirley Josey was maid of honor dressed in black knit with black accessories and a yellow chrysanthemum corsage.

Richard Fitzsimmons served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1954, and the bridegroom graduated with the class of 1952 from the Eldorado high school and is now employed by Servel in Evansville, Ind.

At present they are making their home with his parents in Eldorado.

SPENDS REST LEAVE IN JAPAN

Pfc. Ralph E. Morris, whose wife, Beverly, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Morris, live on Route 2, Harrisburg, recently spent a seven-day rest and recuperation leave at Camp Kobe, Japan, from his unit in Korea.

Sight-seeing and entertainment facilities at Camp Kobe provided Morris with a welcome break in the task of maintaining security in Korea, where he is assigned to the 17th Field Artillery Battalion's Headquarters battery.

The pecan, grown throughout the south, is the most important nut-bearing tree native to the United States.

School-Centered Storm Warning Plan Begins Next Week

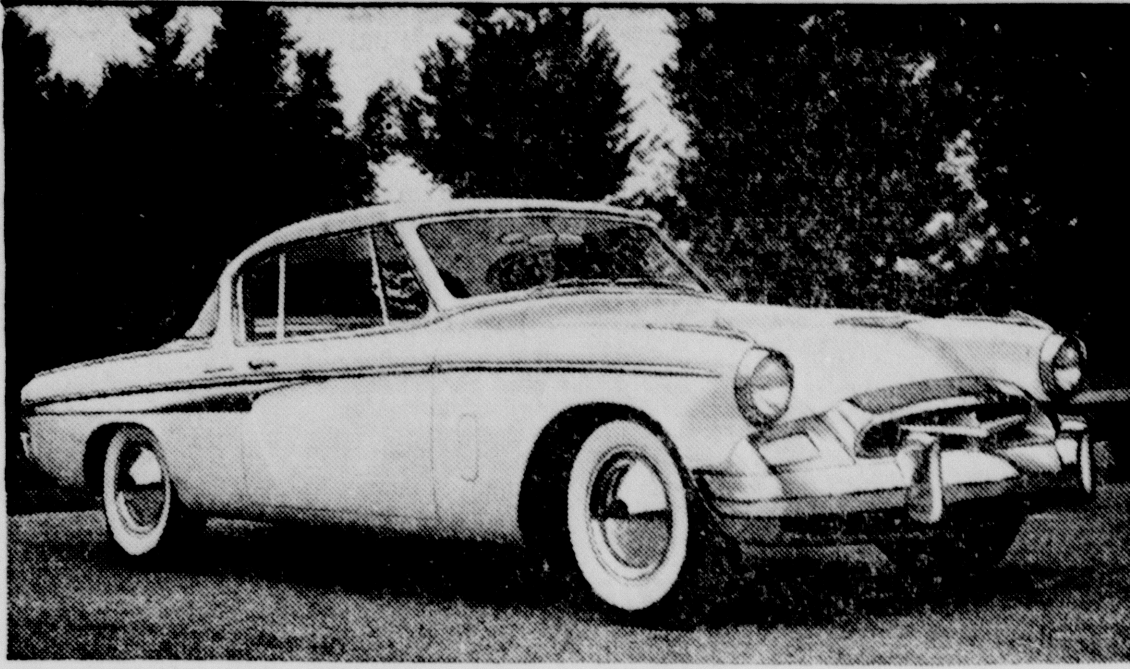

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U.P.)—Organization of a school-centered storm warning plan adaptable to aircraft spotting will begin in southern Illinois next week.

A Frank Bridges, Southern Illinois University faculty member, will visit high schools in Anna, Cartermville, Cobden, Marion, Herrin, Johnston City, Benton, West Frankfort and Christopher. Bridges who is area civil defense coordinator, will be accompanied by Merle G. Moore, Illinois civil defense coordinator for public schools.

Bridges and Moore will assist school officials in setting up ground observer corps among their students. Storm warning systems suitable to individual schools will be planned.

A ground observer squadron from Springfield later will instruct the students on their jobs. The U. S. Air Force will provide direct telephone lines to air defense filter centers.

Nebraska is the only state which is contained wholly within the Missouri River basin.

STYLE, POWER, LOWER PRICES FEATURE STUDEBAKERS.—The long, low, distinctive styling of the Studebaker hard-top convertible that has proved so popular throughout the world is accentuated in the new 1955 models by the sweeping effect of chrome side moldings that extend from the headlights, above the massive appearing grille, to the newly styled tail lights. The flowing lines of this President State model are further brought out by hood and fender ornaments. The interiors are styled in diamond pattern nylon and rayon upholstery in complementary colors. Elegance of interior appointments and trim adds to the luxury of the high styling. The new Studebaker "Wildcat" V-8 engine with 175 horsepower gives this model superior performance and roadability. Lower prices prevail throughout the entire new Studebaker line. The new line is on display today at the Exide Garage, local dealer.

Board Asked to Sell Another Acre

buildings already has been laid and that sewers now are in the process of being installed.

After the remarks by Davenport, Raymond Field, Carrier Mills supervisor, urged all the board to get behind the Jaycees as they are doing a fine job that will help the economic situation of the entire county.

Board Chairman William Alfred Smith of Galatia, said there was no doubt in his mind that the board would go along on the acre behind the plastic factory buildings but that a little study would be needed on optioning the remainder of the acreage on the west side of the road. He said, however, that speaking for himself, he doubted if it would be right to start optioning on the east side of the road, where the county farm proper is situated.

Transfer Funds

The matter of the one acre wanted now was turned over to the board's poor farm committee.

In other actions today, upon motion by Herman McFarlin of Independence township, chairman of the Finance committee, the following transfers of funds were made:

- $10,000 from the collector's account to the general fund;
 - $5,000 from the collector's account to the county officers' fund;
 - $5,000 from the collector's account to the TB fund;
 - $5,000 from the special bridge fund to the state aid road fund;
 - $750 from the board of review fund to the county clerk for extra clerk hire;
 - $300 from the circuit clerk's fee-earned account for extra clerk hire for the circuit clerk to catch up on recording of oil and gas leases.
- Also today the board passed a resolution submitted by R. D. Brown, county superintendent of highways, for county participation in the repair of a bridge across Middle Fork in Section 32 of Tate township.

When hanging a picture, protect the wall with a strip of adhesive tape or Scotch tape. Place the tape where the nail will go, and the plaster won't crack.

New 1955 Studebakers on Display at Exide; Feature Higher Horsepower

The new Studebaker - Packard Corporation made its second major move today as the company unveiled to the public its completely new line of higher-powered, lower-priced Studebaker passenger cars for 1955. The new models are on display today at Exide garage, local dealer.

The first dramatic move came just a few weeks ago when Studebaker announced that prices on its high-styled, more powerful 1955 models would be set $37 to $287 under those on similar 1954 models to place every Studebaker model in a strong competitive price position.

The new line was announced by Studebaker - Packard President James J. Nance.

More Horsepower

The new line, the most complete in Studebaker's history, features sharply increased horsepower and includes 24 different body styles, highlighted by medium-priced, power-packed, luxury President models. Millions of motorists will recall that a luxury President series distinguished the Studebaker lines in the 1920's and '30's until 1942, when production was turned to national defense.

Studebaker's new line also features the popular Champion and Commander series of sedans, sports cars and station wagons, designed to further increase Studebaker's leadership in styling and engineering soundness and advancement.

The 1955 Champions, now priced to compete fully in the low-price field, are powered by a rugged "Victory Six" engine stepped up to 101 horsepower.

The new Commander V-8's — while retaining the sturdiness, smoothness and economy for which they have become notable—now set new performance standards with a brilliant new "Pacesetter" V-8 engine developing 140 horsepower, according to the company.

Star power performer of all is the new President series, featuring a 175-horsepower "Wildcat" V-8

Tubeless Tires Standard

All three engines are products of Studebaker engineering and are built by the company in its South Bend plant.

C. K. Whittaker, head of Studebaker sales, emphasized that the sharp increases in power have been achieved in all three engines without sacrifice of the economy of operation for which Studebaker has become noted.

In addition to their new power, Whittaker said, the 1955 Studebakers are distinguished by "a new bigness and roominess of appearance that joins with their smart lines and exterior and interior appointments to give them a combination of appeals unparalleled in the industry."

Tubeless tires are standard equipment on all '55 Studebaker models, offering puncture-free driving and long life. Conventional tires with tubes are available on special order only.

The exclusive Hill Holder is standard equipment on Commander and President models with conventional and overdrive transmissions. It is optional at extra cost on Champions.

New Line of Trucks

Power brakes are available as optional equipment at extra cost on all models.

Body colors include a wide choice of eight solid colors and eight fashion-matched two-tone combinations with harmonizing color-styled interiors and upholstery.

The '55 Studebakers are designed by internationally famous Raymond Loewy, with interior styling by Eleanor Le Maire, well-known interior decorating expert and color stylist.

Simultaneous with its passenger car introduction, Studebaker-Packard announced its 1955 line of Studebaker trucks. The truck line features four new engines, automatic transmissions and five-speed transmissions. Horsepower ranges from 92 in the L-head Six to 175 in the V-8.

Red Grange Says He Would Have Liked to Play with J. C. Caroline

CHICAGO (U) — Red Grange, the old Galloping Ghost of the golden era Illini, wishes he could jump right into the shoes of J. C. Caroline.

He thinks football has improved so much as a game today that he wishes he had been born 30 years later.

Football was vastly different in his heyday but the old Wheaton iceman is convinced "any good fundamentalist from my day could make any team these days."

"I think the game has improved tremendously," he said. "There is a lot of emphasis on defense now. When we played, a team didn't have more than two defenses, a seven-box or a seven - diamond. Now they have a dozen defenses, which is necessary to combat all the tricky offense plays."

An Illini Immortal

Grange was an immortal halfback at Illinois from 1923 through 1925 and he played more than 200 pro games after leaving college. He wound up his pro career in 1934 with the Chicago Bears after being with them since 1929.

Campanella Undergoes Second Operation On His Injured Hand

NEW YORK (U) — Doctors who operated on Roy Campanella's injured left hand for a second time today gave the stock catcher "an excellent chance" for full recovery.

Campanella, who suffered through the 1954 season without full use of the hand despite an operation in May, underwent a second operation Wednesday for removal of adhesions and scar tissue.

Dr. Samuel Schenkman, a neurosurgeon, performed the four-hour operation at the Queens Memorial Hospital.

The two-time "Most Valuable Player" of the National League, whose booming bat paced the Dodgers to pennants in 1952 and 1953, hurt the hand in an exhibition game last spring.

Grocery Chains Cut Coffee Prices

NEW YORK (U) — Major grocery chains cut the retail price of coffee 4 to 6 cents a pound today.

A&P, Grand Union Co., H. C. Bo-hack Co., Inc., and Safeway Stores, Inc., announced the cuts after wholesale prices were reduced 5 cents a pound.

Saxton Wrests Welterweight Title From Kid Gavilan in Dull Fight

PHILADELPHIA (U) — Johnny Saxton of New York, a brand-new welterweight champion, sought to avoid a traffic jail sentence today while deposed Kid Gavilan of Cuba sought justice as the victim of a "Philadelphia decision."

Brawny, 24-year-old Saxton, who learned to box in a New York orphanage, wrestled the 147-pound crown from 28-year-old Gavilan Wednesday night before 7,909 in Convention Hall. But he faced a 15-day jail sentence, starting today in New York for ignoring a dozen traffic tickets. He was slated to appear in a New York court today before starting his incarceration.

Johnny, who specialized Wednesday night in "bullying tactics," won a unanimous 15-round decision after a bout so dull that Chairman Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission called it "a stinking fight."

Result an Upset
It was an upset result, for Johnny had been a 7-5 underdog entering the ring. Although the fans booed the bout in nearly every round, they cheered the decision. They were openly pro-Saxton, who is managed by Frank (Blinky) Palermo of Philadelphia. However, writers at the ringside were overwhelmingly in favor of Gavilan.

Angel Lopez, manager of tear-stained Gavily, screamed "They're a bunch of thieves! We were robbed! We'll never fight here again after this Philadelphia decision!"

Gavilan said, "They cheated me. I won 10 of the 15 rounds. But I knew that if it went the limit here I would lose my title."

Lopez protested bitterly to Wiener, but the commission chairman said: "Regardless of how bad the fight was, I think the decision was just."

Keed's Sparkle Seen Lacking Gavilan's admirers thought he

Two SIU Linemen Are Injured

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U) — A rugged pre-homecoming practice cost Southern Illinois university's football squad two varsity linemen.

Giles Sinkewitz, Belleville sophomore, suffered a broken arm and is lost for the rest of the season. Sinkewitz, who missed half of last season because of a broken leg, had been used in guard, center and end positions.

Senior tackle Cliff Johnson, Cairo, sprained an ankle and will miss the homecoming game Saturday against Michigan Normal.

Fullback Bob E. Fisher, and quarterback Gerry Hart, West Frankfort, are out with leg injuries.

The Harrisburg B team last night defeated John VanderPlum's McLeansboro eleven, 27-19, in the Harrisburg industrial benefit football game played at Taylor Field.

The crowd was a bit disappointing in size but the several hundred on hand saw a good offensive ball game, the kind that pleases the watcher.

They also saw some fine ball carrying by the Foxes' Joe Gateley, who was as good a sophomore runner as has been on the local field in years, and saw John Ziegler, Bull Pup sophomore fullback, play his best game of the year as he smashed to the first three touchdowns and pushed over for all the extra points.

McLeansboro, in its first year of football since 1929, has chiefly freshmen and sophomores on its squads with four or five juniors.

Nichols took the Bull Pup freshman-sophomore team and added a few varsity juniors who have seen little varsity action for last night's contest. There were five juniors, Joe Dorris, Jay Waite, Mike Hays, Jack Foster and Ronnie Reynolds, in the local starting lineup.

Statistics show that Harrisburg made eight first downs, McLeansboro three. Harrisburg gained a net 213 yards from scrimmage, 112 by rushing and 101 by passing. McLeansboro's net total from scrimmage was 167, 111 by rushing, 56 by passing.

Harrisburg threw 13 passes, connected with six for the 101 yards, and had one intercepted. McLeansboro threw 20 times, connected with four for the 56 yards, and had four of them intercepted.

Harrisburg was penalized 20 yards, McLeansboro 15.

McLeansboro scored two touchdowns and Harrisburg one in a lively first quarter. The Foxes broke the ice, recovering a Harrisburg fumble on the H-28 and scoring on the next play when Gateley made his way through the line to scamper the entire distance. Leon Hall went over for the extra point.

Then, after Hays passed 15 yards to Charles Cummins to the M-29, John Ziegler started smashing through the Fox line, scoring from the two. He went over for the extra point.

It was only minutes later that Gateley ran 47 yards to score again, and the Foxes led 13 to 7.

In the second period Harrisburg blocked a McLeansboro punt and recovered on the M-8. Ziegler smashed 4 to the 4, then went over on the next play and ran for the extra point to put the locals ahead, 14-7.

Lady Wrestlers
Given Legal Go-Ahead in Illinois

CHICAGO (U) — Lady wrestlers had a legal go-ahead in Illinois from a judge today, but the state attorney general and the Athletic Commission promised to continue their fight to keep women out of professional rings.

Judge Harry M. Fisher ruled Wednesday that the State Athletic Commission has no authority to ban women from professional wrestling.

Atty. Gen. Latham Castle promptly announced the decision would be appealed.

Athletic Commissioner Lou Radzienda said "the way things stand now, the Illinois Athletic Commission is meaningless. All our rules mean nothing."

"We'll have to incorporate all our rules into law at the next session of the Legislature," Radzienda said.

Fisher ruled that if women were to be kept out of the ring, the Legislature should have written the prohibition into law.

The Athletic Commission has barred women from wrestling to protect them from injury and overwork.

Fisher's decision was on an action by Rose Hesselstine, who wrestles as Rose Roman and claims a share of the 135-pound women's championship in other states.

Meanwhile, there was speculation that Fisher's ruling would result soon in women's bouts appearing on local TV stations which regularly telecast men's matches.

Jockey Shoemaker
Wins 2000th Race

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (U) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker, more affectionately known as "The Silent Shoe," brought in his 2000th winner Wednesday at Tanforan amid the usual chorus of good-natured boos.

The 195-pound "winningest jockey," who has only been riding 5-12 years, has been up on 8055 mounts and has established a phenomenal record of 2000 wins, 1373 seconds and 1048 thirds.

Willie scored his 2000th victory aboard a claiming horse named Florence House.

reference status was returned by the Big Ten. The school had been reprimanded for trying out five prospective basketball players and placed on probation for activities of the Spartan Foundation.

Western Illinois of Macomb was reprimanded for playing in the Corn Bowl football game in Bloomington, Ill., last Nov. 26, a game not certified by the NCAA Extra Events Committee. Portland was reprimanded for trying out 11 prospective basketball players during the April 10-11 weekend last spring.

CCNY was prohibited from participating in the 1955 NCAA basketball tournament only. The Florida school was ruled ineligible to enter athletes or teams in NCAA championship events during the current college year.

The question about who might want to kill her brought the old woman's harsh laugh. She seemed to think that was the only answer necessary.

"Did you have a talk with Miss Wister before you made your announcement after dinner last night? And by the way, I thought you worked around to the suggestion of hiring me very cleverly. Or was that rehearsed?"

"The point," Mrs. Oswald snapped, "is whether or not you're accepting employment."

"I'm working for Mrs. Kit."

"That may be no hindrance," the old woman said. She plucked at the covers, pulled them higher.

"You saved my life last night. You owe me something for that. You're young. You can use money, and I have plenty. I want to know! Why did you save my life if you're going to let my last years be clouded with fear and suspicion?"

Jim said, "All right. I'll go on with my investigation. But just for your information, if Mrs. Kit is guilty of murder, I won't protect her. Or any of your family."

There was the familiar glint of macabre humor in Mrs. Oswald's eyes. "Conscience," she murmured. She went on, "Better include Philip. He's almost a family member, by—by—" apparently she couldn't think of a word she wanted to use.

"The first thing," Jim said, "is that I'll want to know the exact relationship that exists here."

Mrs. Oswald nodded. She let her eyes half close, appeared on the verge of sleep.

"Agnes Argyle is your daughter?"

"Yes. I suppose she blurted that out last night? Well, let her tell you the rest of the story then. Poor Aggie. She really went to pieces, didn't she? But I'll give orders. They'll talk to you, tell you the truth or they'll answer to me."

Jim went to the kitchen. He found Philip Stoneman putting around with a coffeepot. Philip got a cup and filled it.

"There isn't any cream," Philip said. "And I've been a busy boy dumping out all the sugar. I've heard arsenic mixes well with sugar."

Jim sipped the black coffee. "Gregory Stoneman was a relation of yours?"

"Brother. When he died, I took over his job."

"Including Mrs. Hilton?"

Philip nodded. "If you want to put it that way."

"So now, you're almost a member of the family?"

Philip grinned. "Just on the Carlson fringe, you might say. When I'm really in, I won't have to use any self-discipline. Like the rest, I can just let myself go, show my truly sweet nature to the world at large."

"You'll develop the Carlson Conscience?" Jim demanded.

"Working on it now," Philip admitted. "Really working on it. Handy place to have your conscience, in a glass case in a summer place where you don't even have to see it 11 months out of the year."

"You think your brother was murdered?"

Philip hesitated a little on that one. "The Carlsons themselves are to blame for my suspecting one of them killed my brother. They all acted as if they had gotten away with something. Don't make any mistake about one thing, chum. The Carlson women may fight among themselves, but they keep it that way."

Jim nodded slowly. He remembered Mrs. Kit's statement she wanted evidence on Mrs. Hilton for use only "in the family circle." He knew now that his employer thought Mrs. Hilton guilty of the California murder.

Stoneman appeared to read his mind. "And don't count on Mrs. Kit, chum. She'd toss you to the wolves in a minute if you do any little thing the Carlsons, and old Mrs. Oswald in particular, don't like."

"Like proving Angelica was murdered?"

Philip's smile was a sneer. "Now you're beginning to act like a smart little man."

Dunn asked bluntly, "Have you made up your mind now as to whether your brother was murdered?"

"Yes. I've made up my mind. I'm not too stupid about some things."

"It was you who turned the sign around the night I first came to The Spires? It was you who put the barb wire in the strategic place?"

"The sign, yes. The wire, no. Just lucky chance it was there, I guess."

"You know you might have wrecked my car by misdirecting us?"

Philip shrugged. "I couldn't care less, chum."

"Who told you to change the sign and not let us in the locked gate?"

"Angelica asked me to," Philip went on. "No matter what you think, I liked Angelica. She always had a raw deal as far as I could see. She told me she wanted to get something out of The Spires and didn't know when she'd be able to get away."

"She knew someone was coming to The Spires?"

"We all knew that, chum."

"Mrs. Oswald is going to give orders for everyone to cooperate with me."

"I'm a great little guy for taking orders."

"Why?" Jim demanded, then went on to answer his own question. "Don't tell me. Let me guess. Money. An attractive woman. An easy life."

"You're catching on, chum," Philip said, smashing his coffee cup in the sink.

Greyhound Buses Operate Southern Limited Routes

Residents of this city may have noticed that the buses of Southern Limited Inc. formerly serving this area, have been replaced since the first of October by the familiar blue and white buses of the nationwide Greyhound system.

According to an announcement by J. E. Donahue, vice president of Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Division of The Greyhound Corporation, this service is now being operated with Greyhound equipment in accordance with permission granted by the Illinois and Indiana Public Service Commissions, and the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. Donahue states that the routes formerly operated by Southern Limited between Evansville, Ind., Paducah, Ky., and Chicago, will be integrated into the Greyhound national network and become a part of this system, offering the same standards of service which has made the name "Greyhound" a synonym for bus travel throughout America.

For the present, bus schedules and fares will be the same as those previously offered by Southern Limited.

Connections are made at Vincennes, Ind., with Greyhound's East-West service to Washington, New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis and all the West; at Lawrenceville with the Greyhound service between Cincinnati, Louisville and the South; at Evansville and Paducah for southern destinations; and at Chicago for all parts of the United States.

Nine Jurors Selected for Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Selection of the jury to try Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard for wife-murder speeded toward completion today.

Two more members of the panel—both housewives—were approved during the morning. They joined seven others in the jury box, and it appeared a full cast of 12 would be approved by late today or early Friday.

Then will follow six peremptory challenges by both defense and prosecution before the actual testimony can begin.

Although all 12 tentative jurors theoretically could be dismissed in the final challenges, it is a rarity. The excused jurors are replaced from the remaining members of the original 75-name venire. A 13th alternate juror also is chosen from the final group to complete the selection.

The two members chosen this morning are Mrs. Beatrice Orenstein, a plump, middle-aged wife of a postal clerk, and Mrs. Margaret Adams, whose husband is a manufacturing executive. Both live in Cleveland suburbs.

Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan successfully worded his question about "other women" in Sheppard's life without a rebuff from Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin. He asked Mrs. Orenstein if she would obey instructions from the bench to disregard certain evidence if it was shown that such evidence—the defendant's extramarital affairs—had no bearing on the crime itself.

Mrs. Orenstein said she would.

Corrigan engaged in bitter dispute with Blythin Wednesday over the same question, and accused Blythin of "not being fair."

Rescue Couple from Mississippi Island After Boat Capsizes

ANDALUSIA, Ill. (AP)—A man and a woman from Galesburg were rescued from a small island in an isolated section of the Mississippi river off here early today after their motor boat capsized.

Iver Halverson, 47, a trucker, and Mrs. Irene Stegens, 40, a nurse at Galesburg Research hospital, were shivering from the cold after 12 hours on Arab Island, but otherwise unharmed. Their aluminum boat overturned after they loaded it heavily with water-soaked fish traps they were taking up from the river.

U. S. Pledges $105 Million to Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will extend 105 million dollars in economic aid to Pakistan and will try to speed up arms for Pakistan's anti-Communist defense forces, it was announced today.

The American pledge of large scale aid was announced in a joint U. S.-Pakistan communique issued at the conclusion of talks here between high American officials and Pakistani Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

Ali left Washington immediately to return to Karachi where he faces a domestic political crisis.

Chicken Thief Also Lifts Frying Pan

NICOLLET, Minn. (AP)—A thief who broke into the Wallace Hopp farm near here and carried off 40 chickens, several dozen eggs, two rounds of butter and a large quantity of pork and beef.

On the way out, he picked up a frying pan.

80,367 Receive State Public Aid

SPRINGFIELD — Public aid checks went to 80,367 persons in Illinois during August, it was announced today.

The Illinois Public Aid Commission said the figure represented a 3.827 increase over the previous month and was 30,656 above the number on the rolls in August, 1953.

Four IPAC programs remained about steady from July to August, but the number of persons receiving general relief went up sharply. There was a 3,916 increase in relief recipients during the month.

Total spending for the five programs was $11,561,507, compared to $11,468,884 in July and $10,614,174 in August, 1953.

Bull Dogs Play Herrin Tigers in Annual Dad's Day at Taylor Field

A tip-top football game looms for tomorrow evening at Taylor Field when the Herrin Tigers come to Harrisburg for a South Seven conference contest.

Herrin is a good ball club this year under the direction of Coach Leodio Cabutti with three wins and two losses, and a one win and two-loss mark in the conference.

Harrisburg has lost two and won three this season, putting up a good defense against the opposition's running game except against Eldorado, and has a two and one record in loop play.

Herrin has piled up 107 points to 79 for its five foes this season. Harrisburg has made 52, its opposition 63.

Annual Dad's Night
In the conference Herrin won 21 to 6 from Mt. Vernon and lost 46 to 0 to Centralia and 27 to 7 to Benton. Outside Herrin boasts a 26 to 0 victory over Zeigler and a 53 to 0 trouncing of Christopher. Bill Lawrence has been the major offensive threat of the Tigers this year.

Harrisburg's two conference wins were over Marion, 27 to 7, and Mt. Vernon, 6 to 0. The loop loss was to Centralia, 30 to 6, and in non-conference play the locals were dropped 7 to 0 by Murphysboro and 19 to 13 by Eldorado.

It will be the annual Dad's Night contest at Taylor Field with parents of the Bull Dog players being honored. Before the game the HTHS band will spell out D-A-D and play, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," after which each boy will introduce his parents, or close relative or friend, and escort them to seats especially arranged for them inside the gridiron enclosure.

Coach Lawrence Caluffetti said that all his team members will be in good enough condition to play Friday night except possibly John Wilson, 6-3 end who has been suffering from a "Charlie horse." If he is not able to participate, Jim D. Williams will take his place. Both are juniors.

Other Games
Harrisburg-Herrin is one of two South Seven conference games to be played this week. In the other, Mt. Vernon travels to Marion.

In non-conference games Benton will be host to Cairo, West Frankfort will go to Eldorado and Centralia will put up its perfect record against Salem on the Orphans' field.

How Illinoisans Became Suckers

CARBONDALE, Ill. — The term "sucker" nowadays can mean a fish, lollipop, unwanted shoot on a plant or a carnival patron, but it once was a popular nickname for southern Illinois residents.

John Allen, a Southern Illinois University historian, says the term was widely used in the early 1800's and the residents resented their nickname. Allen gives three versions of the origin of the term:

Early settlers in this area grew tobacco which has to be "topped" to get rid of suckers, or unwanted shoots, which sap the strength. Many of the settlers were poor folk and thus were compared to the tobacco shoots.

Another theory is that during a period of drought in the area the people carried long sections of cane which they inserted into crawfish holes to get water. Allen is inclined to discredit the theory because all the crawfish holes he has studied weren't straight enough to insert cane.

The theory Allen believes most correct is that many men from southern Illinois went to the Galena area to work in lead mines in the summer, returning home in the fall. The migrant miners would arrive in Galena just about the same time that the fish known as suckers began moving up the Mississippi river to spawning grounds and they soon became associated.

Homecoming Activities Begin at Eldorado; Crown Queen Tonight

Homecoming activities at Eldorado Township High school get underway today and continue through Friday evening.

The Senior class play, "Deadly Earnest," will be presented twice today, this afternoon and evening, with the coronation of Homecoming Queen to follow the evening performance.

Friday afternoon the homecoming parade will be staged and the homecoming football game is scheduled to start at 7:30 Friday evening.

There are five candidates for homecoming queen — June Harwood, Toni Barton, Claudetta Justice, Pat Elder and Beth York.

The Senior class play, a three-act comedy, will be given this evening starting at 7:30. There was a matinee this afternoon.

Cast for the play — Bill Coker as Henry Gilerest; Nettie Ann Gholson, Aunt Ethel; Pat Broadhurst, Margie; Vickie Schultz, Pumpkin; Shirley Nichols, Jill; Linda White, Gladys; Janet McCallister, Stella; Mary Ann Gates, Clarissa;

Marietta King, Ernestine; Johnny Dodd, Ernie; James Cox, Mr. Bumpus; Larry Mahoney, Sleepy; Fred Gholson, C. E. Grimm and David Prather, Dr. Ernest. Gene Rhine is faculty director.

Friday afternoon's homecoming parade will leave the high school at 2 p. m. and proceed to the downtown area, where a band concert will be given at the Locust-Fourth street intersection.

Following the football game Friday night a dance is scheduled to be held in the gymnasium.

Three Suggestions For Helping Aged

CHICAGO (AP)—A research team has come up with three suggestions to help solve the nation's increasing problem of what to do with the aged. The team, from the Illinois Institute of Technology, recommended:

1. Setting up more old age institutions in city areas, fewer in rural areas.

2. More foster homes for the aged.

3. Postponement of automatic retirement beyond age 65.

The scientists said too many states have laws requiring that institutions for the aged be established as "farms."

"Older people want to be able to enjoy movies, television, religious service, and other benefits of city life, like anyone else," the scientists reported.

The team said foster homes for the aged are good because they give old people who want it a more normal environment.

And they said industry's practice of retiring workers at 65 is unrealistic because "aging is a matter of physiology, psychology, and social acceptance, and not merely chronology."

Highway Users Group Opposes Further Diversion of State Gasoline Tax Receipts

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Opponents of possible further diversion of state gasoline tax receipts for other highway use are gearing for a showdown in the 69th General Assembly. They are behind an amendment to the state constitution which would ban the spending of the more than $100 million annually collected from the state five cent gallonage tax on gasoline, for any purpose other than roads.

Sponsoring the amendment is the Illinois Highway Users conference. It lists nearly two-score groups as endorsers. They include the Central Motor Freight Association, Chicago Motor Club, Highway Safety Association of Illinois, Illinois Bar association, Illinois Federation of Truck associations, Illinois Lumber and Material Dealers association and the Cartage Exchange of Chicago.

With various branches of government services indicating need of increased state funds, opponents of diversion of gasoline tax funds fear there may be a repetition of the 20s and 30s when gas funds were diverted to purposes other than highways. The highway users claim that by 1955 Illinois will already have diverted nearly $95 million of gas funds to nonhighway purposes.

Opening Wedge in 1927
"A study of diversion indicates that nearly $95 million, wisely spent on highway and their maintenance during the time it was being spent on something else, would have prolonged the life span and enhanced the riding qualities of a very large mileage," said Miss Althea Nelson, Springfield, on the legislative committee of the Highway Users conference.

Miss Nelson said the "opening wedge" to divert gasoline gallonage tax funds was in 1927, and again in 1928 and 1929, when the legislature diverted $22,229,485 to schools. Later, in 1932 and in 1934, the Assembly authorized bond issues for emergency unemployment relief to be financed by gasoline tax funds, at a cost of $66,982,851 plus another $5,646,363 in direct grants.

State Highway Division researchers say gasoline tax monies are divided five ways as follows: 35 per cent to the state; 32 per cent to cities; 12 per cent to downstate counties; 11 per cent to Cook county; and 10 per cent to townships. In 1953, they said a net of $111,202,000 was divided approximately as follows: State $38,921,000; cities $35,585,000; downstate counties $13,344,000; Cook $12,232,000; and townships $11,120,000.

Expect Requests
Since it authorized a $20 million bond issue for relief in 1932, and another for $30 million in 1934, for a total estimated cost of $66,982,851, the General Assembly has not diverted any gas funds. But as the Highway Users and its supporting groups contend, there is nothing to prevent it from doing it again, say for schools, for welfare or for the University of Illinois next year.

These three last mentioned groups, and others, are expected to come to the General Assembly in January with requests for increased appropriations. Unless Gov. William G. Stratton can be persuaded to agree to new taxes or to increase present ones the rich receipts from the gasoline tax will be eyed as an easy method to finance requests for more money.

As the situation is now, there can be no diversion of gasoline tax funds for other than highway purposes unless it is done by legislative enactment, as was the case in the 20s and 30s. So those opposed to diversion propose to clamp down on any diversion attempt by pushing a joint resolution providing for a constitutional amendment to limit gas tax receipts exclusively to road building.

Outline of Amendment

Roughly the amendment, as outlined in literature distributed by the Highway Users, provides that all revenue from fees, excises and license taxes relating to registration, operation and uses of motor vehicles on public highways, and to fuels used for propulsion of such vehicles, be appropriated and extended solely for three purposes, described as follows:

1—To finance administration of the laws under which the taxes are collected; 2—for payment of debts created for highway construction; and 3—for paying the cost of construction and reconstruction and maintenance of highways. A fourth purpose would provide for some limited use of the receipts for traffic enforcement such as patrolling of highways by state police.

Diversion of gasoline money for the 1932 and 1934 bond issues for emergency relief runs out this year with the final payment of $1,032,500 ($1 million for principal and $32,500 for interest) on the $30,000,000 bond issue. The last of the $20 million bond issues was scheduled for retirement in 1944 but the last payment was not made until 1950.

Secretary of State Carpentier says motorists can save money if they'll check their driver licenses. Expiration dates come unexpectedly and an arrest for not having a valid driver license can result in a fine and costs totalling some times as much as ten dollars. And the law provides that it can be as high as $100. A license renewal, he says, costs only one dollar.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Drott
Celebrate 40th Anniversary

At high noon Oct. 14, 1914, a very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Riegel where their daughter, Lizzie Ann, became the wife of Alf J. Drott in the presence of 69 guests. The bride's only brother, Leonard, was best man, and the bridegroom's sister, Laura (Mrs. Tom Marvel) was matron of honor.

On Thursday evening several of the relatives and friends carried in a potluck supper and helped the Drotts celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. Half as many as were present at their wedding attended.

The house was nicely decorated with several bouquets of garden flowers sent by well wishing friends. Many nice gifts were brought and those who couldn't attend sent gifts.

The Drotts, three weeks following their wedding, bought a farm near Thompsonville, and five years later moved to the farm near Union Chapel where they raised their family of two sons, Stanley, East St. Louis, and Paul, whose farm home joins his father's, and one daughter, Maryema (Mrs. Dean Guye) of Harrisburg. There are five grandchildren.

Seven years ago the Drotts moved to their present home one half mile south of their former place. Following the sumptuous meal, Mr. Drott and his brother, Reno, of Thompsonville, entertained with musical numbers popular four decades ago. Mr. Drott is an accomplished musician. He plays the violin, guitar and sings. When the Drotts' children were home they had a string band of violin, guitar and piano. The family has been faithful members of Union Chapel church during all these years and are active in community work.

Seven of the guests present also attended the wedding: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riegel and daughter, Ethel (Mrs. Alex Krieuli), Mrs. Mary Riegel, Mrs. Emma Drott and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Riegel. Others attending Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Drott and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Guye and daughter, Darlene, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel and children, Carl Harris and daughter, Carla, Mrs. Bedie Harris, Alex Krieuli, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Small, Reno Drott, Mrs. Martha Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Golliber, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen and Joe Small.

The guests extended good wishes for future happy years together to the honored couple upon their departure at a late hour.

Rev. Irvin Braden gave the devotion at the Galatia Rest Home Sunday afternoon. The Knight quintet sang four numbers. Those who attended were Mrs. Braden, the Clifford Knight family, Gilbert Tate, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Woolard and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Small.

The Leland Lockwood family visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood, Sunday. Union Chapel revival will begin next week with the pastor, Rev. Viola Sittig, preaching and L. L. Riegel leading the singing. Everyone is invited to attend.

The box supper at Abney school was well attended Friday evening. Mrs. Dorothy Mings is the teacher. John Endsley auctioned the boxes and pies, and the proceeds of $95 will be used for the school equipment.

The Good Neighbor club will meet Wednesday with Mrs. Charles Lockwood at 1:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend as election of officers will be held.

Prayer meeting at Mt. Moriah and Union Chapel is held every Wednesday at 7 p. m. Members are urged to attend and the public is invited.

Sunday was layman day in the Methodist churches. Gilbert Tate from Tate's Chapel preached for the Mt. Moriah congregation Sunday morning. Noble Woolard of Lone Oak spoke at Tate's Chapel at 11 a. m. and John C. Small from Mt. Moriah filled the pulpit at Lone Oak Sunday morning. A picture of Japan was shown afterwards at Lone Oak by Mr. Woolard.

Mrs. Sybil Cable of Birmingham, Mich., visited her cousin, Mrs. Joyce Cable and family, Sunday and attended church at Mt. Moriah.

McKinley at Logan.
Local doctors will give the toxoids and the school nurse will be in charge of the immunization table.

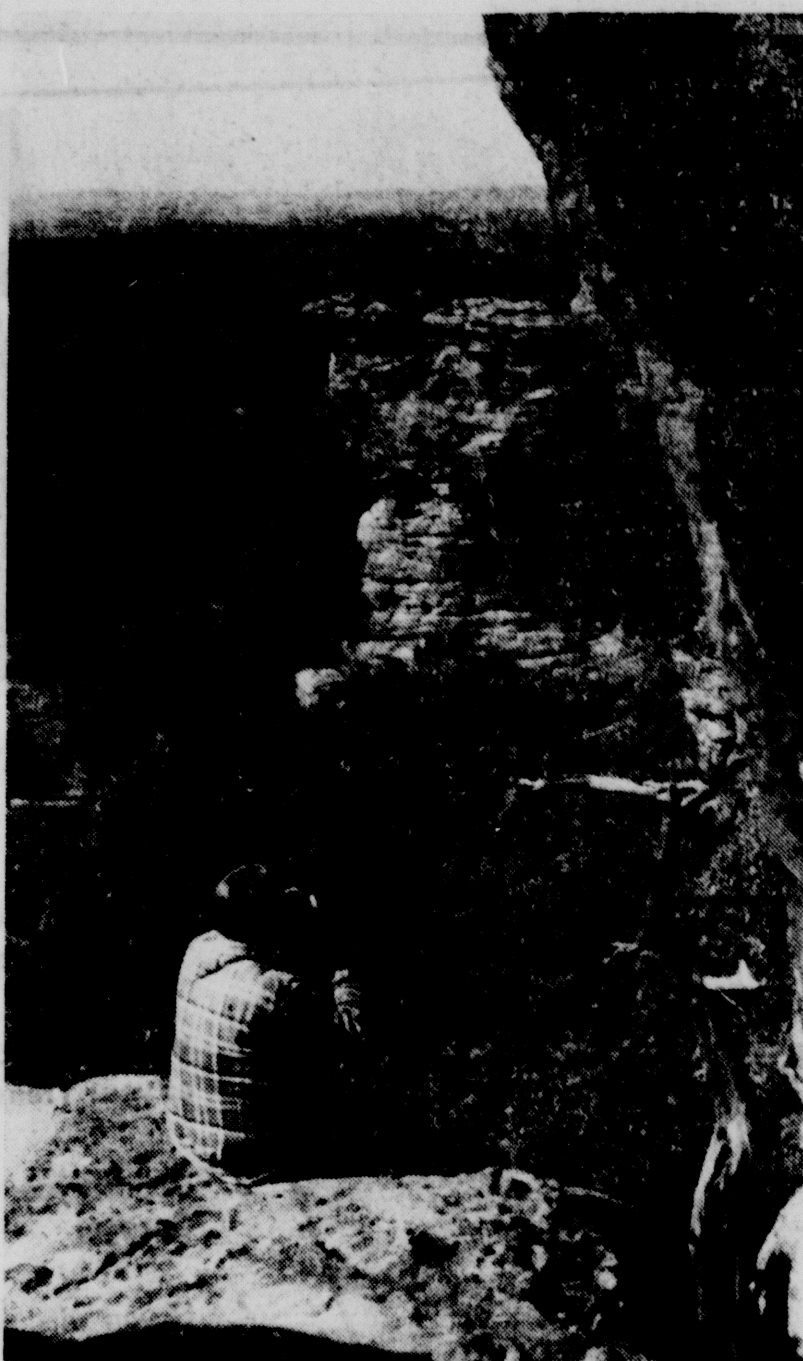

From the July 15, 1951, copy of ILLINOIS HEALTH MESSENGER comes these words, "Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a very serious disease and once developed is difficult to treat. The infection is caused by a germ that lives in the intestines of domestic animals, and consequently contaminates the soil of city streets, barnyards, pastures, and country roads. Gardens and yards that are fertilized with manure are particular sources of danger."

The Health Messenger continues with "The disease can also be prevented with tetanus toxoid, given early in life with 'booster' doses given whenever an injury occurs." Ask your family physician about tetanus immunization and follow his advice.

The school nurse would again like to remind parents to keep a family record of each child's immunization. Keep dates and type of protection received. If in doubt of what is recommended through the school health program under the leadership of local medical men, call your child's teacher or the school nurse for clearance.

A Pennsylvania militiaman, Ferdinand Durang, assisted by 20 comrades, first sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" in September, 1814.

Fourth Autumn Auto Tour of Area Will Leave Here Sunday

The fourth Autumn auto tour scheduled for the Sundays of October will meet at the south side of the Square in Harrisburg, Oct. 24. If there are too many cars, the line will form at the intersection of Routes 34 and 45. Each party is to provide its own picnic lunch and drinking water.

Plans might be made for a few persons without transportation by contacting Wayman Presley of Makanda, Carbondale 2F32, or William H. Farley of Harrisburg, 812R, in advance; also, plans might be made to meet cars coming from the south at McCormack or Delwood.

Final route may be affected by last minute road or weather conditions. Features of the trip will be camp sites of prehistoric man; the 125-year-old Indian Ladder; the pictograph at Money Cave; waterfalls; picnic sites at Cool Springs and the highest point in southern Illinois.

Last weekend a bus load of visitors from near Chicago, from Effingham, Mount Vernon and St. Louis were entertained at Giant City lodge. Saturday morning was spent enjoying the scenery of Giant City. At the prehistoric stone fort, bits of flint were picked up as evidence of Indian occupation. After lunch at the lodge, the bus toured the area of Little Grassy Lake, Devils Kitchen and Crab Orchard lake. Luke Furlong did expert driving in piloting the big McCormack bus from Harrisburg over the rocks below the dam at Crab Orchard lake, where the bridge was out. Larry Sheffield of the Fish and Wildlife service explained points of interest along the route and answered many questions about the migration of geese and ducks.

Song Session
Later, at the Haven, while relaxing, waiting for the barbecue supper, Mr. Sheffield led the group in singing to the fine piano playing of Bob Pierson from the Marion high school faculty. This inspired some talent among the guests. Miss Gloria Van Hoopstraal of St. Louis was a vivacious song leader and others from Fairbury and Effingham told stories around the fireplace.

Goffrey Hughes welcomed the guests on this first Autumn color tour sponsored by Southern Illinois Incorporated. Others adding their welcome were Mrs. Arimeta Bigelow, the hostess at the Haven, speaking for Ray Hubbs, one of the founders of the American Legion's Past Commanders club; Mrs. Logan Colp, for the Woman's club, and Mrs. Thurman for the Motel Marion. Bill Gile seemed to be everywhere at once as the superb manager of the tour making sure everyone was comfortable.

Irvin Peithman of Southern Illinois university gave a lecture illustrated by color slides on the scenic beauties of Southern Illinois and the Indian culture as revealed by archeological explorations.

Back at the hall at the Giant City lodge there were fireside games. There were also other visitors from the Champaign Audubon society and the Missouri Walk-A-Way club here for week-end hiking parties. Early Sunday morning the first stop of the bus was at the shelter east of Alto Pass above the bluff on Sky-Line drive. Here the party enjoyed the view across the valley to Bald Knob and watched the third Sunday auto tour as it came down the winding trail to meet them at the Black Diamond highway overpass. Wayman Presley explained plans of the Bald Knob Foundation.

Cars Follow Bus
At the next gravel road south there were twenty-nine cars to follow the bus as it wound through the valleys west and over long stretches of unbroken timber winding higher with steep slopes through the timber on either side until it came out on Pine Hills 400 feet above the trail at the base below.

The tourists were thrilled with the clear view across the Big Muddy and Mississippi rivers to the hills of Missouri and down to the timber that had been swamped by beaver dams.

There were other stops below for camera fans to catch the profile of the bluff and the cathedral window where there is a view of the sky through the arch.

Next the caravan stopped at the picnic area of the State Tree Nursery north of Jonesboro for lunch while the bus went on to Grand Tower for a closer view of the river before enjoying one of Mrs. Hale's famous family style chicken dinners with all the trimmings.

After returning to the Giant City lodge for freshening up, the visitors from a distance were safely escorted to the streamliners where everyone pronounced it a most successful launching of a new type of bus tour.

The auto tour went south of Jonesboro to enjoy a brief Sabbath observance in the historic Korthal church. This is a rare example of early Lutheran culture in southern Illinois.

Later, the trail led through winding valleys to a silica mine at Elco. The tourists were thrilled by a candle-light procession going back into the darkness of the mine for one-half mile. The almost pure white walls of the natural silica reflected the light to make the journey a beautiful experience of lasting impression.

The sponsors of these tours hope that each person guided to these beauty spots will in turn bring other groups back to enjoy them.

Ford Scholar
PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Three fire trucks and six police cars were dispatched to rescue 11-year-old Lorraine DeFusco from the third floor window ledge of a grade school. Lorraine, who climbed down unaided, explained that she just wanted to see the inside of my classroom again.

The Illinois Horticultural Experiment Station at Southern Illinois university is a cooperative program at SIU and the University of Illinois.

Aged Rotary Head Is a Bike Rider

YOAKUM, Tex. (AP)—H. D. Meister claims he not only is the world's oldest Rotary Club president but also is "one of the oldest bicycle riders I know of."

The 84-year-old Meister recently was elected president of the Yoakum Rotary group for the second time. He first served as president in 1940-41.

"Hank," as he is called by his friends, was owner-editor of the Yoakum Daily Times until his retirement in 1946. At one time he served as president of the South Texas Press Association. He still attends conventions of the group.

He keeps in shape by riding a bicycle put together from parts of three discarded bicycles. He was a bike racer as a youth and competed against Barney Oldfield and Sid Blackwelder. He once made a 10-day trip of 900 miles around Lake Erie.

New FORD THUNDERBIRD
A personal car of distinction
... with Trigger-Torque performance
Something totally fresh is here—a bewitching new all-steel beauty that sets the styling keynote for other Ford cars to come.
But, styling gives the merest hint of what the Thunderbird has to offer. In traffic and on the open road the Thunderbird's Trigger-Torque performance is literally a revelation. Here is hair-trigger response... fleet, liquid agility... backed by a reserve of swift, sure power to meet safety's every demand. Trigger-Torque performance stems from Ford's new Thunderbird Special V-8—a high-torque engine with 4-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, wide-opening valves and Ford's famous low-friction design. And you can have the Thunderbird with the transmission of your choice—Conventional, Overdrive, or new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic.
Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension not only velvet-cushions your ride, it also allows the Thunderbird to handle with utmost ease—to corner with greatest stability.
But, more important, the Thunderbird is the product of the same advanced engineering... the same manufacturing skills that have made Ford products so dependable, so value-full and so desirable to so many.
